

San Francisco Has Wild Emotional Jag Over Gen. MacArthur

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—A tremendous ovation greeted General MacArthur as he walked out of his hotel at 9:44 a. m. today for a triumphal parade through San Francisco.

Powell street in front of the St. Francis hotel and Union Square across the street were jammed with thousands of people.

General MacArthur, rode in an open car flanked by Gov. Earl Warren of California, and Mayor Elmer Robinson.

The street was packed so thick with cheering San Franciscans the car was barely able to move.

Smiles His Answer

As he was leaving the hotel someone asked MacArthur if he was anxious to get to Washington where he will tell Congress his side of the story that led to his removal by President Truman from his far east commands.

The general did not answer. But he gave his questioner a big smile.

Mrs. Jean MacArthur and their

13-year-old son, Arthur, followed the general.

Mrs. MacArthur, thrilled by the American welcome, said she and Arthur are anxious to see a big league baseball game when they get back east. Both are enthusiastic baseball fans.

Tens of thousands of bay area citizens poured out of their homes to give the ousted general a second-day welcome expected to overshadow the riotous greeting he received last night on his first return to the mainland in 14 years.

Grim Job Ahead

MacArthur captured San Francisco as surely as his troops conquered Manila and Leyte and New Guinea in World War Two.

Once the official welcome home is extended, the general will turn to the grim business of hurrying to Washington to defend before Congress tomorrow the Asia policies which caused President Truman to fire him.

Already the dispute between MacArthur and President Truman has the Republicans and Democrats hurling at each other the angry and bitter accusation of

Senator Cain Calls For U. S. War On China

Resolution Expected To Get Pigeonhole

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate Democratic leader McFarland today predicted a pigeonhole fate for legislation by Senator Cain (R-Wash.) asking Congress to declare war against Communist China and North Korea.

The Arizona Senator also forecast shelving of an alternative resolution offered by Cain—with withdrawal of United States forces from Korea.

'Put Up or Shut Up'
Cain's action was another of the stormy repercussions in the wake of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who goes before a Senate-House meeting tomorrow to outline his Far Eastern policy views in general terms.

Mr. Truman had an opportunity to speak out, if he chose at a news conference today (4:30 p. m. EST).

As for the Cain proposals, Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) joined McFarland in speaking out against them. Senator Malone (R-Nev.), on the other hand, said he was reserving judgment.

Cain introduced the two resolutions late yesterday, saying it is

Allied Tanks Punch Holes In Red Lines

No Letup In Dogged Defense Of Dam

By G. MILTON KELLY

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied troops advanced 2,000 to 3,000 yards on the west Korean front today behind heavy air and artillery attacks.

The Reds gave that ground—1½ to 2 miles—grudgingly.

The big gains were south and southeast of Chonwon, a five-highway hub about 19 miles inside Red Korea.

One allied infantry team pushed up a valley road within two miles of the rubble city. The doughboys met Chinese mortar and rifle fire and withdrew.

High Ground Held

A tank force lunged into the Red lines near Chipyong and killed 100 Communists. Chipyong is seven miles southeast of Chonwon.

Wednesday's gains carried the main allied line to about eight miles south of Chonwon.

Chonwon and Kumhwa are two bases in the big triangle where the Reds had massed an estimated

W. Stuart Symington Named To Head RFC As Trouble Shooter

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Administration leaders predicted today swift approval of W. Stuart Symington for a new job—boss and trouble shooter at the Reconstruction Finance corporation (RFC).

There is no sign of serious opposition to his appointment.

President Truman announced yesterday selection of Symington to head the huge government lending agency, now under fire in Congress on charges that its loan policies have been influenced by a ring with contacts in the White House. A strong move is afoot to abolish RFC entirely.

Symington, a former secretary of the air force, now is chairman of the national security resources board. In that job, he acted as overall coordinator of the defense mobilization program in its early stages.

Mr. Truman chose him for the newly created post of RFC administrator, to take over from the agency's board of directors, whose jobs were abolished in a reorganization plan freshly approved by Congress.

Walter Cosgriff, an outgoing director, told the Senate expenditures committee at a recent hearing that a man "would have to be a glutton for punishment" to want the job Symington has agreed to undertake.

Senator Maybank (D-S. C.) announced the Senate banking committee which he heads would start hearings on the nomination Tuesday. He predicted Symington's confirmation "with very little opposition" and told reporters: "I don't believe the president could have made a better choice."

Senator Schoeppel of Kansas, a Republican member of the committee, told a reporter: "I've heard of no opposition to Symington in all the time since his name first was mentioned. From all I've heard, he's an excellent administrator, careful and practical in his approach to problems. I believe the president has picked a good man for this difficult position."

Coming To Chicago

CHICAGO—(AP)—General MacArthur's visit to Chicago was tentatively today for Thursday, April 26. This was announced by Mayor Martin H. Kennelly after a telephone conversation with the general's top aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

Trapped Submarine Sends Faint Signals

PORTSMOUTH, Eng.—(AP)—Faint underwater signals spurred a blind search today for the British submarine Affray, stuck on the bottom of the English Channel. Time was swiftly running out for any of the 75 officers and men aboard who might still be alive.

The submarine, trapped in the initial dive of a training course, had been under 198 feet of water for 40 hours when the royal navy announced at mid-afternoon that it had been unable to make any physical contact with the craft.

Its normal oxygen supply would last the men on board 40 hours.

A naval expert said reserve supplies might let the 75 aboard live another eight hours, but "that means by 2100 hours (3 p. m., EST) the situation inside the vessel would be extremely dangerous."

The last faint signals from the

Pacific Security System Mapped For 5-Power Pact

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Plans for development of a Pacific security system were reported today to be well advanced in the state and defense departments. Some formal announcement may be made shortly.

Indications are that detailed negotiations will be undertaken soon among the United States, Australia and New Zealand with a view to working out a Pacific pact by the time a Japanese peace treaty is concluded.

Australia and New Zealand have been particularly anxious for a security system in which American guarantees of their safety would offset the danger they see of a possible resurgence of Japanese militarism under a peace treaty permitting Japan to rearm.

Several months ago Australian officials advocated a "triangular pact. While the project may eventually take that form, authorities here expect that eventually a five-power alliance will be developed including Japan and the Philippines, as well as Australia, New Zealand and the U. S.

Disaster Hits Winona, Minn., City Of 25,000

Upper Valley Deluge Worst In 70 Years

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands were homeless and other thousands were threatened with evacuation today by flood waters from the mighty Mississippi which is on a rampage in the Midwest.

The Red Cross estimated that 23,000 persons have been affected by spring floods in five midwest states.

Communities along the Mississippi from St. Paul to Quincy, Ill., braced for what may be the most disastrous floods in years.

Families Evacuated

The river, which hit a record 17.4 foot level at Winona, Minn., last night, was expected to crest slightly above that mark today in the worst flood in the upper valley in 70 years.

More than 300 families were evacuated in Winona, an industrial city of 25,000.

South of Winona at La Crosse, Wis., water covered at least 30 city blocks and 300 families were forced to flee their homes. Downstream at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., about one-third of the city of 5,000 population was covered by four to five feet of water. About 150 families have been evacuated from the flooded homes.

Lowlands In Danger

The Red Cross and civil defense agencies are busy caring for the homeless in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and northern Iowa.

Residents on the lowlands of the Mississippi in Iowa and Illinois are preparing for record high water next week—probably sooner.

U. S. Engineers, Red Cross officials and city officials of Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport and Bettendorf, Ia., met yesterday to outline flood precautionary plans.

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich.—(AP)—From more than 2,000 miles away, citizens here gave a noisy welcome last night to Gen. MacArthur's arrival in the United States.

Gen. MacArthur long ago used to spend summers at an old Mission Peninsula farm near here.

Mailman Too Tired; Tosses Some Away

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A 20-year-old substitute mail carrier has been charged with mail theft.

John C. Von Hecht of Altadena is accused by postal inspectors of throwing 300 pieces of first-class mail and many magazines and newspapers behind some bushes on a lonely street along his route.

"I was just too tired to deliver that mail," inspectors quoted him.

Von Hecht was arraigned yesterday before the U. S. commissioner, who fixed his bond at $1,000.

Boys Clear Up Hit-Run Death

DETROIT—(AP)—Two 16-year-old boys were held at the juvenile detention home today after admitting they dragged a hit-run auto victim into a used car lot.

The pedestrian, William Mc Master, 65, was found by passers-by an hour and a half after the accident Saturday night. He died shortly afterward in a hospital.

The boys are Dee Russell, a trade-school student, and Donald Simonelli, who was a passenger in a stolen car driven by Russell, police said.

Inspector Donald A. Quinn said the boys' attempt to hide the car led to their arrest. Quinn said a neighbor of Simonelli became suspicious when the boy appeared at his home yesterday and rented his garage. The neighbor saw the car was damaged and notified Simonelli's mother.

The boys told the entire story after their parents got together last night, police said.

Peiping Peace Offer Rumored

North Korean Cable Mostly Propaganda

By STANLEY JOHNSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP)

—Reports of a new peace bid from Communist China circulated here today as delegates studied the official text of a North Korean cable interpreted by some as a peace offer and by others as a propaganda blast.

The 12 Arab-Asian members of the U. N. scheduled a meeting at the apartment of India's Sir Benegal N. Rau today to discuss the North Korean communication and "other developments."

Members of the group hinted strongly that it would be a good guess that the "other developments" included a new message from Peiping, relayed through India's ambassador there, clarifying the Red Chinese views on a cease fire in Korea.

Rau denied, however, that he had received such a communication.

A source with close Arab-Asian connections said the group had sent Peiping a cable saying:

1. Dismissal of Gen. MacArthur created a favorable atmosphere for peace talks.

2. The United Nations is inclined to reach a Korean settlement on the basis of a cease fire near the 38th parallel.

3. The Arab-Asians plead for an equally compromising spirit on the part of the Peiping government.

This source said the Peiping reply would be read to the meeting today.

Portugal's President Dies At Age Of 81 After Brief Illness

LISBON, Portugal—(AP)—President Antonio Oscar De Fragoso Carmona, Portugal's head of state since 1926, died this morning after a brief illness. He was 81.

A veteran military figure, Marshal Carmona became head of state in 1926 after the military coup of May 28. He was elected president in 1928 and since has been re-elected three times.

In 1928 he brought Portugal's present strong man, Dr. Antonio De Oliveira Salazar, into the cabinet as finance minister. Salazar soon after became premier and subsequently took over the actual control of the government.

Salazar now assumes the presidency until elections are held within the next three months. He is expected to be a candidate to succeed Carmona.

Scarlet Fever Is Reported

300 Cases A Week Appear In State

Scarlet fever is appearing in Michigan at a rate of about 300 cases a week, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner reported today.

While scarlet fever can be readily treated with the newer drugs, it is a dangerous streptococcus infection which may result in damage to the heart, kidneys and ears. Rheumatic fever frequently follows an untreated case of scarlet fever, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, Director of the Division of Disease Control of the Department.

Scarlet fever is most common in children under 15 and most serious in children under five.

If there are cases of scarlet fever in your community, put your child to bed at the first sign of a cold or sore throat; keep him there; keep others away from him and call his physician, Dr. Leeder advised.

The child who appears to have only a slight cold may have scarlet fever. The child who has a light form of scarlet fever is just as apt to develop complications as the one who is very ill and is more apt to spread the disease.

Symptoms of scarlet fever may include sore throat, fever, nausea, and later a pin point rash beginning on the chest, but it is unwise to wait for these symptoms to appear before calling a doctor, Dr. Leeder warned.

Ayer Cup Won By Small Daily

Annual Award Goes To La Salle, Ill.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The Daily News-Tribune of La Salle, Ill., an afternoon publication with a circulation of about 14,000, won the 1951 F. Wayland Ayer cup for excellence in typography, press work and make-up.

The award to the LaSalle paper, announced yesterday, marks the third time in the 21 years of the contest that the highest honor has gone to a small city newspaper. The contest is sponsored by N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., advertising agency.

Some 800 English language daily newspapers in the United States entered their March 7 editions in the contest.

Judges were Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania; Merle Armitage, art director of Look and Quick magazines and president of the American Institute of the Graphic Arts and J. L. Frazier, editor of Inland Printer.

The judges noted a trend toward use of more and better photographs on the front page. They also commented on the fact the winning newspapers were alert to providing interesting matter for readers on the lower half of the page—described by printers as "below the fold."

Honorable mention awards, made in three classes based on circulation, went to:

More than 50,000—New York Herald Tribune, first; Christian Science Monitor, Boston, second and Louisville Courier-Journal, third.

10,000—50,000—Johnstown, Pa., Democrat, first; Bradford, Pa., Era, second and Elizabeth, N. J., Daily Journal, third.

Less than 10,000—Kingsport, Tenn., News, first; Waukesha, Wis., Daily Freeman, second, and Martinsburg, W. Va., Journal, third.

The Mirror of Los Angeles was given the honorable mention award for tabloid newspapers, which were judged in a separate class.

Veterans Who Want Government Policy Have To Act Fast

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Any veteran who wants, but doesn't have, government life insurance must act fast, the American Legion advised today.

Issuance of new policies will be discontinued under the new bill which would provide $10,000 free death benefits for members of the armed forces, Legion Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., noted in a statement.

The change becomes effective as soon as President Truman signs the new bill into law, as he is expected to do. It was passed by Congress Friday.

Existing policies held by veterans not in service are not affected.

The will is being contested by Norton's two brothers, Mack and Charles of Cassopolis, Mich., and a nephew, Thomas Norton, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Claim Incompetency

Judge Jackson in a statement after the opening of court described the parties and the issues in the suit.

Mack and Charles and Thomas Norton, contestants of the will of John P. Norton, objected to the probating of the will and no hearing was held in probate court, but was certified to circuit court for hearing.

The contestants claim the will was not executed as required by law, that Mr. Norton lacked competency or capacity to make the will, that the will does not represent the wishes of the deceased, and that undue influence and fraud were exercised.

For Worthy Graduates

Lawyers representing the contestants of the will are Atty. Phil Haddell of Miles, Mich., with Atty's Wheaton L. Strom and Harlan J. Yelland of Escanaba of counsel.

Proponent of will is Atty. James E. Frost of Escanaba, special administrator of the John P. Norton estate. Attorneys Dennis McGinn and James Fitzharris represent the proponent in defense of the will.

The Norton will included bequests of $10,000 to Mack Norton, $5,000 each to Charles and Thomas Norton; with $100 to St. Joseph's church.

Remainder of the estate was bequeathed the Escanaba school district for scholarships for the purpose of aiding any worthy graduate of Escanaba public schools to continue higher education at a college or university.

Three Jurors Excused

Originally drawn for duty on the jury were the following: James E. Anderson, Elizabeth Roberts, Arne Roine, George Berg, C. A. Preston, Sam H. Trentin, Helen Weber, George Weber, Charles Call, Charles Hammar, Alpha Cole, John Wolf, Justin Reese and Bertha Carlson.

In questioning by counsel for proponents of the will this morning, information was supplied that caused the court to excuse Charles Hammar, bookkeeper for radio station WDBC. John P. Norton was president of the Delta Broadcasting company, operator of WDBC, and a stockholder.

Alpha Cole was excused when he reported that he had formed an opinion concerning the case; and Sam H. Trentin was excused because of partial deafness.

Geology Trips Are Scheduled

Students Of U. Of M. To Visit Peninsula

Michigan's geology will be studied in a new summer field course to be offered by the University of Michigan.

Headquarters for the program, which will be a part of the University's Summer Session, will be at Marquette. The field course which will be in charge of Dr. James M. Zumberge, instructor in geology, will be open to a limited number of students who have had elementary courses in physical and historical geology.

Six semester hours of credit will be given at either the graduate or undergraduate level. After a week of elementary geology, the students will be taken into the field for the purpose of collecting fossils, making rock and mineral collections and observing the bedrock and surficial geology of the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula.

Tentative points scheduled to be visited include Copper Harbor, Isle Royale, Keweenaw Point, Houghton, Calumet, Ironwood, Escanaba, Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie, Tahquamenon Falls, Les Chereaux Islands, Mackinac Island, Rogers City, Sleeping Bear Dunes and Traverse City.

Information may be obtained by writing to Dr. James H. Zumberge, Department of Geology, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

C&NW Shipping Meeting Held

Damage Prevention Stressed Here

Prevention of loss and damage to freight in shipment was the subject of a meeting of Chicago & North Western officials, freight claim department, and employees in Escanaba yesterday. The "perfect shipping" program is system-wide with the North Western.

The meeting, one of several being held, is in cooperation with the Shippers Advisory Boards in reducing the waste resulting from improper handling of shipments in transit.

Attention of North Western employees at the meeting was directed to the problem of losses incurred and how they can be prevented. Motion and still pictures were used in stressing the need for conservation of labor and materials in the present national defense emergency.

The meeting here yesterday was conducted by A. C. Mundy, C&NW freight claim agent, Chicago, and his staff; A. M. Rieck, supervisor of loss and damage prevention, and H. A. Wetter, freight service inspector.

C&NW employees of station, yard, train and other departments attended the meeting from Escanaba and other Peninsula Division cities. L. J. Reynolds, Peninsula Division superintendent, was chairman.

Attending the meeting were Chester D. White, Lee Carter, N. J. Brown, Roland Taylor, B. M. Howe, E. Cox, J. Barber and G. E. LaCrosse of Escanaba; J. E. Dunn, Marinette; R. W. Geigel, Marinette; L. A. Grafe, Iron Mountain; E. N. Olson, Ishpeming; A. P. Johnson, Negaunee; M. J. Westphal and R. W. ## Steel Plants Get Iron Ore From Foreign Mines

By T. E. APPLEGATE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Steel for your 1956 automobile probably will be made from iron ore now scattered in far corners of this hemisphere.

To get this ore to the blast furnaces the steel industry has ahead of it one of the biggest transportation jobs in history.

Its leaders estimate substantial quantities will be brought to the steelmaking centers by 1955.

The ore will come from Venezuela, from the Quebec-Labrador area, Liberia, the Steep Rock lake are in Canada, perhaps from other South American or Caribbean countries.

Development of these foreign fields was undertaken to prevent depletion of high-grade reserves in the great Mesabi range in Minnesota, which has long supplied the major ore needs of the nation.

The swift expansion of steel-making capacity of the industry also made new sources of material desirable.

Shipping Strained
Ore transport facilities are being strained by the present record output of a little over 2,000,000 tons of raw steel weekly.

Lake ore carriers haul millions of tons of iron ore every summer down from the Lake Superior area. This is used not only to keep the furnaces going during the shipping season, but also to build up stockpiles for winter operations.

Defense officials think 91,500,000 tons will be needed from the lakes traffic this year to maintain near-capacity steel operations.

Although the lake boats got an early start—three weeks ahead of last year's schedule—two major steel companies already have announced they plan extensive all-rail shipments to the mills.

Oliver Iron Mining Co., U. S. Steel subsidiary, expects to average 400 to 500 cars daily from the Gogebic and Mesabi Ranges to the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Chicago areas. Republic Steel Corp., is starting similar all-rail shipments to the Youngstown district.

The industry anticipates ore shipped by rail this year will exceed 4,000,000 tons, dependent on availability of gondolas and hop-drawers.

Soil Conservation Meeting Held At Hermansville

HERMANVILLE—Allen Weber, soil conservationist in Menominee county, Wendell Sandahl, district soil conservation director, and Lester Walcott, county 4-H club agent, conducted a meeting in the Hermansville community hall Tuesday evening, April 17.

Soil conservation and 4-H dairy club work were discussed. One motion picture film on soil conservation and two comedies were shown. The original intent of this meeting was to discuss 4-H dairy club work in the Cunard-Hermansville area. However, it was found that quite a number of local people were interested in soil conservation. The result was a combined meeting.

At the present time the following farms near Hermansville have been planned by the Soil Conservation Service: Laban Baird, Donald Raiche, Herman Desmarais, Roger Hull, Omer Haelterman and Walter Peters.

Information was given at this meeting as to advantages in having a farm planned by the Menominee soil conservation district.

Patients At Pinecrest Get Vocational Training

POWERS—To tuberculosis patients at the Pinecrest Sanatorium here, the stamp "medically feasible" can mean "You're on your way back."

The doctors thus rule on whether a patient is able to undertake some of the come-back services offered through the patient services department at the TB hospital.

If medical approval is given, a team headed by Charles Trebilcock, patient services director, can begin to work in any one of a number of directions.

Maybe the patient will need a new job after he recovers. Is there a suitable correspondence course? Can he become a member of the adult education class? Just what would he like to do and where could his talents take him?

Office Practice Class
One of the recent additions to training opportunities, Trebilcock said, is a class in office practice, for future commercial job-holders. Eight patients have already enrolled. Six patients are taking correspondence courses and twenty-one are getting instruction through special education services. In a few months, Trebilcock disclosed that a homemaking class will be started for housewives. The class will be designed to help the women patients win a new lease on the arts of cookery and running a household, readying them for their return home.

Besides such training, the patient services department, financed by tax dollars and tuberculosis Christmas seals, has a far-reaching program to fill the patients' hands and minds.

Pottery, ceramics, belt making, leathercraft, rhinestone jewelry making, doily making, hot pads, weaving, punchwork pillows, woodshop and quilt making are some of the activities cited. They are under supervision of Mrs. Elaine Salminen, arts and crafts instructor.

And it's not just "busy work." Shortening the "90 minute hours" a patient has to spend in bed helps "maintain a good morale and a good mental attitude toward hospitalization," Trebilcock declared. "Both are important to recovery and return to a normal life." About 55 per cent of the patients at Pinecrest are taking part in this phase of the program.

Much Good Reading
The patients' leisure hours need not be spent staring at the ceiling. A 1,000 book library with a mobile book cart makes some of the time pass constructively. Two times a month, feature movies are scheduled and, through the Musicians' Performance Trust Fund, orchestras are brought in to serenade patients about every two weeks.

Financial support for the program comes from: Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Department of Public Instruction, Menominee Women's club, Escanaba Women's club, Dickinson County Tuberculosis association and the Michigan Tuberculosis association.

Support of the latter four groups is made possible by citizens when they buy tuberculosis Christmas seals.

Through the program, the sanatorium is not only a place of mending bodies, but it is also becoming a new resort of hope for a useful future when tuberculosis strikes.

Smelt began running up the Ford and Escanaba rivers last night and early this morning.

Bill Williams, 1304 14th street, reported the run started about 2 a. m. Fishermen were getting four or five fish with every dip of the net.

Smelt dippers reported light catches on the north bank of the Escanaba river, near the railroad bridge.

About five hundred automobiles from all over the Upper Peninsula were parked along the banks of the Sturgeon river at Nahma.

The run was lighter last night than it was on Monday night when tons of smelt were taken. With smelt bringing about four cents a pound Monday night, Nahma school boys earned from $10 to $20 each from the night's fishing.

Among fishermen registered at the Nahma hotel are Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of Ishpeming, C. H. Shaffer and Henry H. Peters and son of Chicago, George Kertawski, A. H. Johnson and C. J. Johnson of Lombard, Ill.

Blood Bank At St. Francis Hospital To Fill Urgent Need

THE installation of a blood bank and facilities for handling and storing whole blood at St. Francis hospital, now under way, will provide an extremely valuable service to the people in the area served by the hospital.

The hospital is now undergoing a remodeling program to accommodate the new facility. A blood bank refrigerator, equipped with safety devices to warn against any interruption of the temperature control mechanism, has been purchased by the Escanaba Lions club at a cost of $800. Other Lions clubs in the area served by the hospital also have pledged their cooperation in this project.

The blood bank at the hospital will contain supplies of four blood types, available for use in an emergency. No longer will it be necessary to issue call for volunteers donors with a specific blood type urgently needed. As each pint of blood is withdrawn for a patient, two pints of blood will be replaced by relatives of the patient. In this manner an adequate supply will be on hand at all times.

After whole blood has been under refrigeration the maximum time for use as whole blood, it will be forwarded to Lansing for processing into blood plasma and other blood derivatives. This procedure will build up the county's plasma credit with the state Red Cross plasma bank and will eliminate the need for annual Red Cross blood collections here.

Our Financial Woes Sure To Continue

THE people have been slightly confounded by the latest financial reports emanating from Washington. Earlier forecasts of a $2,700,000,000 deficit for the current fiscal year have been replaced by predictions that the government may wind up with $3,000,000,000 surplus instead.

The ordinary citizen might ask: "How can financial experts be $5,700,000,000 off in their estimates in the space of a few months?"

Without wishing to apologize for the experts, one can say that in these days of mammoth sums it's easy.

First of all, Congress increased corporate and personal income taxes last fall. By the time President Truman submitted his new budget in January, only part of a year's returns at the higher rate had come into the U. S. treasury. The budgeteers had to guess what a full year would bring. They guessed too low.

The January forecast was based also on a calculated rate of expenditure for defense purposes. In actual practice, that rate has not been achieved. Expenses consequently are running well behind the estimates.

Put the underestimated income side by side with overestimated expenses and you change a potential deficit into a prospective surplus.

It would be risky to assume, though, that this unexpectedly bright outlook is going to continue indefinitely. As Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson and others have pointed out, the government is now ordering arms and munitions at a vastly accelerated pace—$2,000,000,000 a month, or double the defense outlays at the time of the outbreak of war in Korea.

The bills for these orders have not yet come in. When they do, next fall and winter, the government's surprising surplus will vanish in a hurry and we'll be back in the red. No miracle of financial sleight-of-hand is going to remove from our backs the burden of a greatly expanded arms program.

When the impact of this effort really starts to hit us, the need for more taxes once more will be strikingly apparent. Mr. Truman has scaled down his 1951 tax demands from $16,500,000,000 to $10,000,000,000, but his lieutenants are seeking prompt action on that lower figure to assure the government's readiness to make heavier outlays in the months ahead.

Congress would not have voted the larger sum this year anyway. Indeed, it may wind up giving grudging approval to perhaps no more than $7,000,000,000 in new levies this year. That might well prove sufficient for a while.

But it's hard to see how Congress can escape voting still higher taxes later, if we wish to curb inflation and keep the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis. Maximum defense output is not expected to come until early 1952, and federal expenses certainly will rise until that peak has been reached.

We can all be grateful for the rosier glow that today surrounds the federal balance sheet. But we needn't kid ourselves into believing we've managed to achieve an effective defense without financial pain. The sacrifices have merely been deferred.

Spring Cold

By Gordon Martin

You can sing of spring's enchantment just as loudly as you please, and your gladness song may wait along upon the fragrant breeze, but while most of those you meet endorse your spirit gay and free, there's a fellow who resents it and could throttle you with glee. He's the guy who aches in every joint and feels he's mighty old, for he's got that awful malady—a lousy springtime cold.

He deserves the understanding of the folks with whom he works, though he cusses them for being just a bunch of healthy jerks. Through his bloodshot eyes the spring is just a season to regret, and his drooly nose is something that he gladly would forget. He is prone to lose his temper as you sing a happy tune, for his head, he thinks, is bigger than an oversized balloon.

Beat your breast in great abandon as for spring you speak your love, but the fellow with the awful cold will raise his eyes above, and implore the kindly heavens to release him from his ills, which have made his life a round of aches and medicine and pills. Treat him gently, gentle reader, and with sympathy untold, for he suffers countless hardships with his stinking springtime cold.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Capitol Hill cloakrooms have been buzzing as never before over the MacArthur incident. This is true of Republicans perhaps more than Democrats. The Democrats are glum, the Republicans elated—though not all of them.

Here are highlights from some of the most significant of these backstage conversations:

Bob Taft expressed concern to Senator Wherry of Nebraska that the GOP may get stuck with MacArthur as its 1952 presidential candidate. Of course, this would eliminate him, though Taft didn't mention this to Wherry. Taft has been noticeably irritable, has snapped at Senate functionaries and fellow senators. He got in a private wrangle with Bob Kerr of Oklahoma over Kerr's statement criticizing MacArthur.

GOP Senator Millikin of Colorado also expressed worry that Eisenhower would oppose MacArthur, which would split the Republicans down the middle. Bridges of New Hampshire replied that Eisenhower was too smart to get into the middle, that Eisenhower also might differ with Truman and run the risk of being fired.

Bridges has been bustling around GOP cloakrooms more than anyone else. He told one group joyfully: "This is the biggest windfall that has ever come to the Republican party."

On one occasion, Virginia's Senator Robertson, a Democrat, remarked to Bridges: "Well, you have a new candidate for president."

"He's better than the present president," the New Hampshire senator shot back.

"I guess there's a lot of life left in him even at 71," piped up Lodge of Massachusetts.

Actually, Lodge, Duff of Pennsylvania and Ives of New York have held some worried huddles about the MacArthur boom and how it would affect their Eisenhower boom. During one of these huddles, Ives snorted: "How in the hell are we going to get any unity around here?"

Smith of New Jersey, the former Princeton professor, has been quite critical over the fact that MacArthur wasn't left in Japan to keep the occupation intact and complete the peace treaty. But privately Smith seemed to approve of removing MacArthur from military command.

Senators Knowland and Nixon, both California Republicans, are eager-beavers on the MacArthur bandwagon. But Nixon had an interesting conversation with Duff of Pennsylvania just before MacArthur was fired.

"What party does Eisenhower belong to?" Nixon asked.

Duff, one of the strongest boosters for Eisenhower, assured him that Ike was a Republican.

"I hope so," declared Nixon. "He's the man for us."

Nixon, however, is now beating the bass drum on the MacArthur bandwagon.

DISCOURAGED IMPEACHMENT
During the first Republican meeting in Ex-Speaker Joe Martin's office on the morning MacArthur was fired, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana demanded that Republicans immediately press for Truman's impeachment.

It was Bob Taft, however, who demurred. Such a move, he said, was asinine. It would be much smarter, he advised, to bring MacArthur back to the United States and build up sentiment for his case before the Republican party went all-out for him.

The impeachment idea was then dropped, though Joe Martin told GOP colleagues to keep talking about it. "We've got to keep the fire burning," he said, half joking.

MARTIN'S ULTIMATUM

It was Joe Martin who adroitly masterminded the drive to invite MacArthur to a joint session of Congress. At first Democratic leaders were decidedly lukewarm, argued it would set a bad precedent for Congress to roll out the red carpet for a general, especially one ousted for insubordination. They also felt it would be an affront to President Truman.

However, Martin handed a virtual ultimatum to his old friend, Speaker Sam Rayburn. He gave him until 2:30 Friday to agree to invite MacArthur to a joint session of Congress.

"MacArthur has been away 14 years," Rayburn drawled sourly. "What's all the rush?"

So Martin extended the deadline to 4 o'clock.

Martin didn't say so, but the reason he pushed Rayburn was because MacArthur's office in Tokyo had given him a veiled ultimatum that the general might not speak in Washington at all unless conditions were to his choosing; also that he had to know in a hurry in order to plan his itinerary. It was also made clear that MacArthur was not anxious to answer questions before the Senate armed services committee.

After getting his ultimatum from Martin, Speaker Rayburn called the White House, cautioned the president that MacArthur might be made a martyr by snubbing him, so it was decided the general would be given a chance to address Congress.

Lucky Luciano Was First Big Racketeer Put Behind Bars, But May Still Be Boss

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

Lucky Luciano, now living in transplanted luxury in Italy, may still be a potent figure in U. S. crime. And then again he may not. Nobody seems to know. That's in keeping with his entire career—there always was a lot about Lucky that nobody knew.

Nobody ever knew how far his control of crime and politics reached. Nobody knew how many people he killed or ordered killed. And nobody really knows—or will tell—how he got a pardon and got out of jail.

There are some facts about Lucky, however. It is a fact that he parlayed brutality and about 1000 girls with names like "Jennie the Factory" into a $12,000,000 a year prostitution and white slavery business. And it was that aspect of his varied career that finally jailed him.

Luciano, born Salvatore Lucania, came to the U. S. in 1910, when he was nine years old. He once described his birthplace, Lercara Friddi, in Sicily, as the "deadest dump in the world." Lucky grew up in a New York tenement. When he was 14, he was still in the fifth grade and that's as far as he went. He quit with a record of poor work and "chronic truancy."

His first prison term came when he was 15, a sentence for a narcotics violation. Altogether, he has had 25 arrests in his lifetime, so far. During the wild prohibition period, he fought his way up to the top in the gangster trade.

His nickname came from his ability to keep breathing, when others desired him to stop. Nobody knows (there it is again) how many attempts were made to get him. One, in 1929, came close. They found Lucky on Staten Island, his throat, chest and shoulders slashed, his mouth taped and his body bound with wire. He never said who did it.

Lucky bullied his way into the brothel business, took over and made it his own private baby. He is estimated to have controlled 200 houses with 1000 prostitutes. One of his career girls said she took in an average of $260 a week. Out of that, Lucky let her keep $13.

Of course, there was quite an overhead—rent, light, heat, bribes and bullets.

But that wasn't his only source of revenue; he was the biggest dope distributor in the nation, ran the numbers racket and had other investments. He was also a power in New York's lower East Side politics and the American branch of the Italian terrorist group, Mafia. Some say that today he is the boss of Mafia.

Lucky and Lepke Buchalter, the head of Murder, Inc., had a crazy arrangement. They traded killers, like other fellows trade stamps. When Lucky decided that Dutch Schultz was getting too ambitious, his good friend Lepke loaned Lucky a few gunmen to de-am-bition him.

An idea of Lucky's engaging personality can be had from the report of a probation officer, late in the gangster's career. It reads, in part:

"His ideals of life resolved themselves into money to spend, beautiful women to enjoy, silk underclothes and places to go in style.

"His social outlook is essentially childish, in that it is dominated by recklessness and a craving for action. His only asset as a leader consists of his apparent calmness at times of stress . . . as a consequence, he is accorded a degree of underworld respect."

"His freedom from conscience springs from his admitted philosophy: 'I never was a crumb, and if I have to be a crumb I'd rather be dead.'"

A crumb, in Lucky's definition, was "a guy who works and saves and lays his money aside."

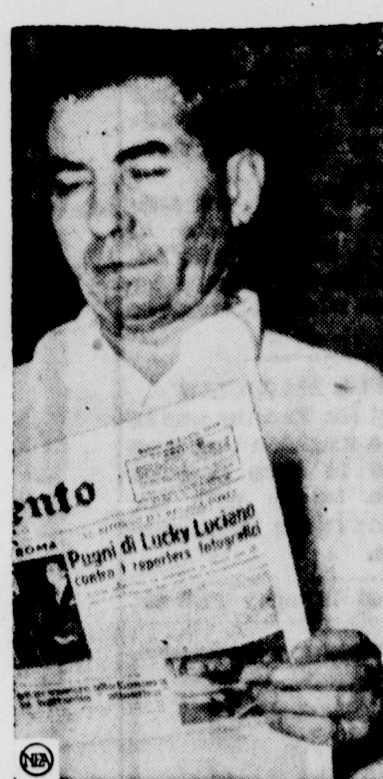

Racket-busting Tom Dewey, appointed by Gov. Lehman in 1935, put an end to Lucky's career in the U. S. Some of the disgruntled girls on his staff gave Dewey enough evidence to convict Lucky of compulsory prostitution. He was sentenced to 30 to 50 years in prison.

Lucky was the first big-time racketeer to be jailed on a big-time racketeering charge. Others were caught on some minor matter—like Al Capone for income tax violation and Lepke Buchalter for anti-trust violations.

Despite his stiff sentence, Lucky only stayed behind bars for nine and a half years. In 1946, Dewey, then governor of New York, released him for deportation to Italy. Dewey said that Lucky, while in jail, had been a big help to U. S. intelligence services during the war.

The governor said he didn't know exactly what those services had been. Lucky's pals boasted that their ex-boss had made the invasion of Sicily possible. Nobody knows for sure, or will say.

Whatever the reason, the jail cell was unlocked and Lucky left on a permanent foreign vacation. A year later, although he'd been supposed to be in Italy, he and a retinue of 14 were spotted in Havana. They were living in a fancy suburb and frequenting race tracks and swank gambling casinos. Cuba was too close to the

LUCIANO IN EXILE: "Italy's dead—nice, but dead."

U. S. for comfort, so the U. S. had Cuba deport him back to Italy again.

Back in his native land, he told a reporter "Italy's dead—nice, but dead. I like movement. Business opportunities here are no good. All small-time stuff."

Which may be true, but Lucky lived things up in Italy. The Italian police estimate he spends $50,000 a year. For a while he lived in Rome's handsomest penthouse. His only visible means of support was a small bakery he owned. The police were sure it couldn't keep him in the style to which he was accustomed.

Something was keeping him in style, however. The Kefauver Committee thinks he's the arbitrator when U. S. gangs have a difference of opinion. They wouldn't be surprised if he runs Mafia. Others think he's the overlord of international crime.

They think those things—but nobody really knows.

THE GOOD CITIZEN — What are the schools doing to teach our youngsters good citizenship?

Think twice before you answer, and don't be like the man who complained "the school teacher should of learned him better" when the police arrested his son for burglary.

Without going into the respective merits of school vs. parental training of the young, let me tell you of a recent experience.

In response to a telephone call, we went to Escanaba Junior high school auditorium to attend a meeting of school teachers and faculty with Lawrence E. Vredevoe of Ann Arbor. Dr. Vredevoe is director of the bureau of school services, University of Michigan. He and his staff are currently cooperating in a school needs survey with the assistance of the teachers.

Briefly, purpose of the survey is to learn what the schools are doing, what they are not doing, and what they should be doing to provide the best possible school program for our young people.

SUMMARY REPORT—The above is an introduction to a summary report of the school survey committee on citizenship. George Grab chairman.

It is the first of several reports to be prepared as the school needs study continues and is titled "The Citizenship Program in the Escanaba Public Schools." Back of it were many hours of work on the part of the teachers, the committee, and the staff of the bureau of school services.

The study in citizenship practices and program in the schools is a self-critical examination, said Chairman Grab. "Unless we know what we are doing and are self-critical, we can show no growth."

GATHERING DATA — Each of the teachers received a check list supplied by the committee and using this as a guide examined their teaching practices in the light of citizenship training.

The summary revealed practices of the teachers in citizenship training under four main divisions: Exhorting the students to do those things promoting good citizenship; discussion in groups of the obligations of citizenship in relation to other groups; stimulating activity of the students toward good citizenship practices; studying to better inform the students in good government that reflects good citizenship.

Here is a typical excerpt from the report under the heading of citizenship activity: "Pupils practiced the correct methods of balloting and learned how to pay the proper respect to our national flag and our national anthem. Courtesy to fellow students and guests as well as to persons in positions of authority was stressed daily."

RESPECT FOR PROPERTY — Analysis of the data supplied by the teachers and compiled by the committee is interesting.

Specifically, the reports revealed teacher practices in relationship to citizenship instruction. There was one characteristic of good citizenship in which teacher practice was in agreement.

"Virtual unanimity existed among Escanaba teachers that respect for property was a very significant aspect of citizenship training for pupils, whether it be in classrooms, the school, or the community."

Teaching respect for property began in kindergarten, continued to be stressed through the ninth grade, and in Senior high was relegated in importance to the broader aspects of citizenship in preparation for adult responsibilities.

THROUGH THE YEARS—The schools have your children for a total of about 13 years—kindergarten through 12th grade.

In the early years of schooling the child is taught to get along with his fellow students and his teacher; later he must learn a wider application of good citizenship with good acts commended, the bad discouraged; and at last he is taught to assume the obligations of citizenship, individually and in his group. At last he was "living" the role of a responsible citizen.

To close this column we hark back to the citizenship summary introduction by Chairman Grab and his observation that Americans are practical—and idealistic in seeking equality, freedom and justice. In seeking to further the ideal of "government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

"In this sense of the word, the teachers of Escanaba are idealistic and have accepted the obligation of helping to perpetuate American ideals."

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Why do we speak of the "Ides of March"?—Mrs. J. C.

A. Ides is from the Latin Idus, "the divided or half month (the days of light of the moon)." In the Roman calendar, the Ides fall on the 15th of March, May, July, and October, and on the 13th day in the remaining months.

In Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," Act I, Scene II, Caesar and his friends enter a public place. They are followed by a great crowd, which includes a sooth-sayer who continually croaks, "Beware the Ides of March!" Caesar asks, "What man is that?" Brutus answers "A soothsayer bids you beware the Ides of March." Cassius summons the soothsayer, and Caesar bids him speak again. "Beware the Ides of March," Caesar brushes him aside saying: "He is a dreamer; let us leave him; pass."

Later, in the street before the capital, Caesar again encounters the soothsayer, and taunts him, saying, "The Ides of March are coming." "Ay—Caesar," warns the soothsayer, "but not gone." Caesar goes to the Senate House and is stabbed to death by the conspirators. And thus the prophecy was filled.

Republican Dulles Has Become Real Statesman

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — A few hours after the dramatic White House announcement of General MacArthur's dismissal, President Truman summoned John Foster Dulles from the state department. The president told Dulles he wanted him to go to Japan immediately to push as hard as possible for a peace treaty with the Japanese.

Behind the urgency of this request was a deep concern over Japanese reaction to MacArthur's removal. If it was a shock in this country, it exploded with the force of a bombshell in Japan and particularly among middle and upper class groups that have looked to America for protection from Communism and for economic stability.

The reaction has in fact been far more serious, according to confidential reports to Washington, than the news has indicated. The Japs have traditionally bowed to authority and General MacArthur had become a kind of second emperor; a symbol of power and security. It was even feared that the government of Premier Yoshida might fall as a consequence of the news.

Important Assignment
After Dulles had heard the president outline this newest mission to Japan, he hesitated for a moment. Both men seated in the quiet of the president's oval study were aware of the extreme difficulty and gravity of the assignment. In the vacuum left by MacArthur's departure a multitude of problems, both military and diplomatic, would have to be solved.

Dulles replied that he was willing to go but he wanted to be reassured that there was no change in American policy with respect to Japan and the Far East. In pushing for a peace treaty at the earliest opportunity, he has been determined not to permit Russian obstructionism to stand in the way of a settlement. He does not believe, as the British seem to, that Communist China should be permitted to take part in decisions on the treaty.

The president responded with great earnestness. He said there was no change whatsoever in the basic policy of the American government. He gave his special ambassador full power to proceed with a Japanese treaty along the lines he has been following.

Given Free Hand
In the way in which he has proceeded to try to bring order and stability in the Pacific through a union of non-Communist powers, including Japan, Dulles has given one of the few examples of constructive statesmanship in the postwar world. Secretary of State

Acheson gave his Republican adviser virtually a free hand on Japan. And instead of waiting to react against Communist action, as has happened more often than not in other parts of the world, Dulles has gone ahead with a constructive program intended to integrate Japan into the society of free nations not later than the end of this year.

This is the third time in less than nine months that Dulles has made the long and wearying flight to Tokyo. He was at MacArthur's headquarters when the North Korean Communists launched their attack on the South Korean republic last June. Returning to America, he expressed the belief that the United Nations would meet aggression with force.

His second trip began shortly after the first of the year. Five weeks were spent in laying the groundwork for a Japanese treaty and a possible future Pacific defense pact with all the nations involved. Besides Japan, Dulles visited Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines. He expressed the hope at the end of his tour that a treaty might be concluded not later than midsummer.

If he had permitted political considerations to sway him, Dulles might have hesitated about going on this third assignment for another reason. He went into the state department at the request of his good friend, Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. The ailing Vandenberg made it a specific condition of a continuing bipartisan approach to foreign policy that Dulles be made one of Acheson's chief advisers. Several other Republican names had been suggested, after Dulles' bitter and unsuccessful contest with Herbert Lehman for the New York Senate seat in the fall of 1949, but Vandenberg insisted on Dulles.

Now, however, extremists in Dulles' party are out to destroy anyone who tries to work with the administration toward a constructive foreign policy. Dulles knew that the attacks would be tripled and quadrupled in the context of the MacArthur controversy. Yet he went—and he went, in my opinion, because he has a deep sense of responsibility in a world torn with dissensions that threaten utter destruction.

It sometimes seems as though the extremists here at home were perfectly willing to bring on this destruction. If only they can heap the blame on Truman and Acheson, they seem ready and even eager to embrace any calamity. And correspondingly they vilify any and all, regardless of party or conviction, who work constructively for stability.

Bids On Bonds Set For April 25

Higher Interest Rates Reported

Bids for the purchase of $900,000 in City of Escanaba water revenue bonds and $125,000 in general obligation bonds for the city gas utility conversion project will be opened in Escanaba Wednesday afternoon, April 25, by the Escanaba city council.

The water bond bids will be opened at one o'clock April 25 and the gas plant bonds at two o'clock the same day. Both issues have been approved by the Michigan Finance commission.

Recently the federal government lengthened the terms of its bond issues with the result that bond interest rates have risen, bond experts have informed the city. It is reported that the higher interest rates will be reflected in the bids on the Escanaba proposals.

San Francisco Has Big MacArthur Day

"war party." And this deep rift has people throughout the country choosing sides.

But the hundreds of thousands who greeted MacArthur last night left no doubt of their deep admiration of the hero-soldier regardless of how they felt about his Asia policies.

People began gathering at the city airport three hours before MacArthur's big shiny constellation transport was due from Hawaii.

As dusk settled over the field there were about 10,000 spectators jammed into a wire-fenced enclosure. Other thousands were unable to get in.

Excitement mounted as MacArthur's plane—the Bataan—nearly the field on its 300-mile-an-hour flight from Hawaii.

The ship touched the runway at 8:29 p. m., (11:00 p. m., EST). It rolled to a halt. A woman gave a high, hysterical scream that signalled the temper of the crowd.

The cheers swelled into a roar. Mrs. Jean MacArthur stepped from the plane onto the ramp. Then came the general wearing his familiar gold-branded cap and a trenchcoat buttoned high around his neck. Behind him was their 13-year-old son, Arthur—wide-eyed and grinning.

The official greeting party included Gov. Earl Warren, Mayor Elmer Robinson and high-ranking officers of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. They moved forward to shake hands with the MacArthurs.

Spectators, newsmen and photographers surged forward and the welcome almost got out of hand. Police shoved a way open for the honor guests.

There was still another tumultuous scene waiting at the St. Francis hotel in downtown San Francisco where the MacArthur party was to spend the night.

Here another 10,000 persons were packed into block-square Union Square in front of the hotel. The crowd fanned for blocks into nearby streets.

Traffic was hopelessly snarled. Tempers flared and several brawls broke out in the crowd. Police enlisted the help of marines, sailors and soldiers to handle the throng.

With difficulty, police cleared a path for MacArthur to walk the few feet from his car to the hotel door.

The MacArthurs were showered with scraps torn from telephone books, with feathers pulled from torn pillow cases and corsages which women unpinched from their dresses.

As MacArthur stepped from the elevator someone asked him a question.

"I'm not saying anything," MacArthur said, "until I get to Washington. What I have to say is for their ears."

"I'll bet you tell them plenty!" The general retorted with a laugh: "You'll see."

BRASS TURNS OUT
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall and the entire military high command will welcome Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the deposed Far Eastern commander arrives here early tomorrow.

The defense department made public today a list of public officials who will greet MacArthur.

In addition to Marshall, it includes Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and the three members of the JCS—Army General J. Lawton Collins, Admiral Forrest P. Sherman and Air General Hoyt Vandenberg.

The army changed its mind today and cancelled plans to have a ceremonial honor guard, saluting battery, and band at the airport to greet the deposed Far East commander when he steps off his plane at 1:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

However, an army spokesman said these honors will be accorded the general in the public welcoming tomorrow afternoon at a huge demonstration on the Washington monument grounds. He

Bus Hearing Opens Today

Connections With '400' Proposed

Hearing of an application of the Iron Mountain - Kingsford Transit Lines for a permit to operate a bus between Iron River and Powers to meet the C&NW Peninsula "400" was scheduled to begin at the Escanaba city hall this afternoon before the Michigan Public Service commission.

Conducting the hearing is Chairman John McCarthy of the commission and Commissioner Schuyler Marshall also is attending the meeting.

The application for the permit was made by Frank Butts, Iron Mountain, proprietor of the Transit Lines. The Greyhound company abandoned the schedule recently after a 60 day trial. It is indicated that the Greyhound company, which operates over that route on other schedules, will oppose the application of the Iron Mountain - Kingsford Transit Lines.

Bratton In First Fight As Champion

DETROIT — (AP)—Johnny Bratton of Chicago will make his debut tonight as the NBA welterweight champion as the Olympia.

But boxing's newest champion won't be risking his crown in the 10-round, over-the-weight match with Don Williams of Worcester, Mass.

Bratton became NBA welterweight titlist by beating Charley Fusari in a 15-rounder at Chicago last month.

Williams, like Bratton, has had 61 professional bouts but hasn't been up against as high caliber of opponents. His recent record has been unimpressive. He hasn't won a fight since September.

Skipper Faces Trial

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Capt. Barton E. Bacon, Jr., commander of the hospital ship Benevolence, sunk off the Golden Gate after a collision Aug. 25 will be tried at a general court martial, the navy announced yesterday. The accident took the lives of 23 of the 526 persons aboard the hospital ship.

said the lateness of the hour of MacArthur's arrival was the reason for the change in plans.

Meanwhile Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) urged president Truman to meet with MacArthur on the Far Eastern situation.

O'Connor said he telegraphed the president that "such a meeting was due General MacArthur for his distinguished services to our country."

The White House had said MacArthur would be welcome to see the president if he asked an appointment but that no appointment had been sought.

The transfer, however, is subject to approval by the state board of agriculture at its meeting on May 17.

Fred Bernhardt, 4-H agent in Schoolcraft and Alger counties, will be transferred to Delta county to replace Nyquist, in the event of these developments.

The Marquette county board of supervisors yesterday approved the selection of Nyquist as the successor to Kaven, subject to Kaven's appointment as an agriculture extension specialist in India, and also subject to approval by the state board of agriculture.

ed 600,000 combat troops. Chornov also was threatened by a frontal attack. Allied troops hold all the high ground south of the city.

At Hwachon, eastern base of the buildup area, the Reds continued their dogged defense of the Hwachon dam. One Allied force which tried to push across the dam Wednesday was thrown back by heavy fire.

Tanks ranged east and northwest of Yonchon on the west central front without meeting Communist forces. The tanks destroyed 70 tons of Red ammunition southwest of Kumhwa.

Enemy Off Balance
Russian-made jets returned briefly Wednesday to the North Korean skies. Twenty-five MIG-15s darted across the Manchurian border and tangled with 16 American F-86 sabre jets.

One MIG was damaged in the 15 minute dogfight. All Allied planes returned to their bases.

Allied commanders said the grinding United Nations attack in Red Korea presumably has thrown the Chinese and Korean Communists completely off balance. Chinese war prisoners said the Reds' spring offensive was set for April 11. That was one week ago. The Reds still are committing their troops piecemeal in rear-guard delaying actions.

Argentine President Crushes Last Hope Of Newspaper La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—President Juan D. Peron signed today a law ordering the government to take over the independent newspaper La Prensa.

The president's action ends the independent career of the 82-year-old opposition paper, which had been a consistent critic of Peron's regime.

The signature apparently dimmed one of the paper's last hopes—an appeal to the Argentine congress that the properties be returned to the owners. The demand, filed Monday, was based on the fact that the president at the time had not yet signed the bill passed by congress last week ordering the paper's seizure.

Bill Anderson Student Mayor

Dave Zerbel Named 'City Manager'

William Anderson, son of Mrs. Edith Anderson of 1214 North 22nd street, has been named "student mayor" of Escanaba. Anderson will "run the Escanaba city government" for a day on April 24 when Escanaba high school students move in on the city hall to "take over" the city reins.

He was chosen "mayor" today by seniors elected to the "council." Besides Anderson, they are Mary Shepeck, Bob Jensen, Dora Rose and Charles Wickman.

The council appointed Dave Zerbel "city manager," Mary Braams "clerk," and Barbara Dubord, "assessor."

Zerbel will make other appointments tomorrow.

Thurston Polls Heaviest Vote

Results Of April 2 Election Certified

LANSING — (AP)—The state board of canvassers certified the results of the April 2 spring state election, confirming in all races the outcome as determined by the unofficial newspaper count.

The canvass showed that Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, polled the largest number of votes of the election. Seeking reelection as a Republican, Dr. Thurston polled 436,032, for a lead of 180,000 over Edgar W. Waugh, Episcopalian, Democrat.

Former Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, the Democratic candidate for board of regents of the University of Michigan, led the Democratic ticket, but was 85,000 votes behind the two winning Republicans, Leland W. Doan of Midland and Roscoe O. Bonisteel of Ann Arbor.

Doan, a political newcomer, outran Bonisteel, an incumbent, by less than 400 votes.

Narcotics Smuggled From Japan Aboard Battleship Missouri

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—Narcotics worth $25,000 were smuggled from Japan aboard the battleship Missouri, which arrived here Thursday.

A crewman, Francis Pastoria, 20, Breckenridge, Pa., was arraigned here yesterday on dope smuggling charges. He was arrested Saturday just before the Missouri sailed for Norfolk, Va.

Assn't. U. S. Atty. Richard Hayden said Pastoria tried to peddle the morphine to a taxi driver, who turned him over to a federal agent.

The Missouri radioed yesterday that a quantity of morphine was found on the ship after it left here and that several other sailors are under suspicion.

Joe Stalin To Get TV Recording Of MacArthur Arrival

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Television station KNBH says it plans to air to Joseph Stalin in Moscow a 12-minute kinescope recording of the arrival of Gen. Douglas MacArthur at San Francisco last night.

The 16mm. film shows the crowd at the airport and MacArthur's speech.

About two-thirds of the world's supply of sugar comes from cane. The remainder comes from beets which can thrive in cooler climates.

Publicity Tour To Nahma Area Ends Tonight

Cameras clicked and writers scribbled on their pads as a "whole town for sale" sign was put up in Nahma's main street yesterday afternoon.

A dozen writers and photographers from newspapers, radio, magazines and syndicates arrived yesterday morning to gather material concerning Nahma, the community that is up for sale as a result of the liquidation of the Bay de Noquet Lumber company after 70 years of operation. The group is returning home tonight.

In the party are: Ed Ketch, Associated Press; Ed Snyder and Roy Miller, Acme Newspictures; Bill Mooney, Chicago Daily News; Harold Fisher, Columbia Broadcasting System; Wallace Kirkland, Life magazine; Jim Carroll, South Bend Tribune; David Runge, Milwaukee Journal; James Sutherland and Ross Arnold, Business Week.

The publicity tour is being handled by Lawrence Stein and Marion Luce, public relations counsels of Chicago.

time for Congress to make a choice—and time for America and her Allies to "put up or shut up." He told the Senate he was expressing his own views, and that they neither had been approved nor "denied" by the Republican party.

Inquiry Next Week

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) declared meanwhile that the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees will conduct "the wildest possible" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash which resulted in MacArthur's ouster. Russell is chairman of the armed services unit and is in line to head the two-committee investigation.

He told reporters the inquiry, originally booked to start today, probably will get underway early next week with MacArthur possibly the first witness.

Hollywood Witnesses Evade Un-American Activities Committee

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The House Un-American activities committee took initial steps today in an unusual move to hale reluctant Hollywood witnesses before it under arrest warrants.

The committee's legal staff drafted a resolution, which probably will be presented to the House next week, authorizing the arrest of nine witnesses the committee wants to question in its investigation of communism in Hollywood.

Committee investigators said the nine were "deliberately" evading service of subpoenas for their appearance.

Kitchen-Knife Killer Of Brother Convicted

DETROIT—(AP)—Arnold Slater, 25, was convicted by a recorder's court jury yesterday of second degree murder for killing his brother, Fred, 28, in a hand-to-hand fight with kitchen knives.

Judge Gerald W. Groat set sentencing for April 26. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment. The brothers fought last Nov. 26 after Fred intervened in a quarrel between Arnold and his wife.

Ex-Marshall Petain III In Prison Cell

PARIS—(AP)—Ex-Marshall Henri Philippe Petain was reported today gravely ill in his prison cell on the bleak island of Yeu off the west coast of France. He will be 95 next week. Petain, serving a life sentence for treason, was said to have suffered a relapse yesterday.

David Godin Dies Suddenly

Heart Attack Fatal To Retired Engineer

David J. Godin, 84, widely known resident of Escanaba, died unexpectedly yesterday afternoon at 4:15 in the yard of his home, 514 South 9th street. He was stricken with a heart attack while raking leaves.

Mr. Godin was born in St. Ann LaParade, Canada, December 14, 1866. After coming to this country he was employed by the Chicago & North Western Railway 12 years and later for the Escanaba & Lake Superior, as an engineer, 40 years. He retired 15 years ago.

Gardening and landscaping were his hobbies, and as a member of Holy Cross cemetery board he spent many hours improving the cemetery grounds.

He was a devout member of St. Ann's church, attending mass daily when his health permitted. He also belonged to the Holy Name society, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the L. S. C. F.

His wife died in 1941. Surviving are two daughters and one son, Mrs. Arthur Guzzonato, Escanaba, Mrs. R. F. Borchardt, Merrill, Wis., and Edmund of Detroit, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9 Friday morning at St. Ann's chapel with Father Clifford Nadeau officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery. Friends may call at the Alto Funeral Home after 2 Thursday afternoon.

Daughters of Isabella of Trinity Circle and members of St. Ann's Social club will meet at the funeral home at 4 Thursday to recite the rosary and a general recitation will be held that evening at 8.

Baby Dying; Parents Say Religion Bans Blood Transfusions

CHICAGO—(AP)—The state today sought a court order to permit physicians to give blood transfusions to a week-old girl in an attempt to save her life.

The infant, physicians said, may die if not given the transfusions. Her parents have refused on religious grounds to permit transfusions, despite pleadings of medical and legal authorities.

Darrell Labrenz, 25, and his wife, Rhoda, 20, who described themselves as Jehovah's witnesses, said they would be violating biblical directives if they allowed their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to receive blood.

The child is in Bethany hospital and Dr. William W. Wieand, who attended the birth April 11, said she is in "grave danger." The condition, RH factor, is caused by the parents having opposing factor blood types.

The infant's life can be saved, physicians said, by a complete flushing of her blood stream.

"Unless there is a transfusion," Dr. Wieand said, "we must stand by and see the baby's life slowly ebb away."

More insects may be found in a single square mile than there are people in the world, says the Book of Knowledge.

Mac Tried To Slip In By The Back Way

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—Nearing San Francisco, General MacArthur remarked: "We'll get in after dark and slip quietly in the back way."

That's what he thought! Arriving home from Tokyo, MacArthur landed at San Francisco International Airport at 8:29 p. m. (11:29 p. m., EST) last night.

So boisterous was his spontaneous welcome, so unruly were the cheering crowds, that he arrived at his hotel two hours and ten minutes later. His 15 miles drive that normally would take about 30 minutes required 100.

Even then, so close was the crush of pressing shoving, waving, clutching, laughing and screaming people, that Mrs. MacArthur and 13-year-old Arthur did not reach the hotel until nine minutes later.

How big was the crowd? It was anybody's guess. There are about 2,000,000 people in the San Francisco bay area. Estimates—all strictly guesswork—ran up to half that number, including those at the airport. . . . Those who crowded off the curbs along the 15 miles route. . . . Those who fought for position and shoved police cars backward in a milling but goodnatured mob scene in front of the hotel.

The blonde silent-film actress said the haul included $300,000 worth of gems, a silver-blue mink coat worth $15,000, and $15,000 in cash. Police said an additional $5,000 in cash belonging to a house guest also was stolen.

Most of the jewelry, police quoted Miss Hampton as saying, was not insured.

She told detectives she recently had taken the valuables from a safe deposit box for removal to a home she is building in Greenwich, Conn. Police quoted her as saying she feared a possible atomic-bomb attack on New York City.

St. Louis Betting Commissioner Faces Grand Jury Inquiry

Carroll was charged March 28 with failure to report compensation paid out as gambling gains and commissions totaling $52,688.15 in 1948 and 1949.

The jury heard 11 witnesses, including some who were listed as having collected on bets with Carroll.

Two Negro Democrats Seated; Senate At Top Strength In Lansing

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's senate was at full strength Tuesday for the first time this year. The session has only about five weeks to go.

The chamber last night seated two Negro Democrats who were elected in special Detroit elections this month to fill vacancies created when the senate ousted Senators-elect Charles C. Diggs and Anthony J. Wilkowski.

The G.O.P. senate stretched a point to seat the two new men—Charles C. Diggs, jr., and Bristow Bryant—because the galleries were packed with their friends. Actually, their certifications of election were delayed in the mails and technically they were not eligible for seating.

New York Central Has 125th Birthday

NEW YORK — (AP) — The New York Central railroad was 125 years old Tuesday.

But officials said there would be no celebration because of the national emergency.

President Gustav Metzger called the growth since 1826 a "125-year plan" and said its accomplishments "serve both the public and the individual."

The anniversary stems from the chartering on April 17, 1826, of the Mohawk and Hudson Railroad company to build a line between Albany and Schenectady.

This pioneer railroad—16 miles long and the first built in New York state—was the oldest of 560 predecessor companies now combined in the New York Central system—11,000 miles operating in eleven states.

FAT SURRENDERS, LOST 43 LBS., USES RENNEL

"When I first started using Rennel Concentrate I wore a size 32 dress and it was tight. In a period of two months I lost enough weight to be able to wear a size 46 dress," writes Anna Grosswiler, 720 E. First St., Monroe, Mich. "I eat three meals a day but stopped eating in between and am losing more and more. I look and feel 100 per cent better already and thank you for a good product. My husband has lost 40 lbs. since he is using Rennel, and my daughter is getting back to her normal weight."

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly blood disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Insist on genuine Rennel.

By WALTER BRIGGS
TUSCON, Ariz. (NEA)—At 15, Ross Stefan is more than the family breadwinner. He has hired his dad to go to work for him.

Ever since he could get his hand on a pencil, Ross has been making pictures. At first, like most children, they were just marks on the floor, the walls, or on any paper he could get his hands on.

Later, he took to crayons and paints. He began to draw men, animals and mountains. His parents were indulgent, but they didn't exactly urge him on at first.

"I knew how artists starve," says his father, Edward J. Stefan, who'd been buying advertising art all his life. "So it wasn't until I was sure Ross had real talent that I began to encourage him."

It wasn't until the Stefans moved to Tucson about three years ago that Ross' effort began to pay off. At 13, postcard-size reproductions of his western pictures were selling by the thousands.

Now his father has given up advertising to devote full time to his son's art—selling it instead of buying it.

Many of Ross' originals, such as cowboys, Indians, and mountain lions, are being displayed at art centers, fairs and banks throughout the Southwest.

Ross has never had any formal art training. A sophomore at Tucson High school, he plans to attend the University of Arizona there. Then he'll go after an advanced art education.

He limits his work to two hours a day. At that rate, it takes him about three weeks to finish a typical picture.

Ross says he uses no models—"It's all imagination."

"I'm not trying to create any stir in the artistic world," he says. "My object is to please myself and other people."

Parish Prays In Park To End Tiff Between Truman and Gen. Mac
WASHINGTON —(AP)—About 300 Negro members of Elder Solomon Lightfoot Michaux's church of God prayed early Monday in a park near the White House for divine guidance to heal the breach between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The group had marched from its church, several miles away, singing hymns as they proceeded toward Lafayette park, across the street from the White House. Blair House, where Mr. Truman is residing while the White House undergoes repairs, is nearby.

But there was no indication Mr. Truman was aware of the demonstration, which started after midnight.

Police and secret service were present in considerable numbers. Elder Michaux prayed that Mr. Truman and MacArthur might be made "to clasp hands."

Chinese Reds Shoot Mother As Spy On Daughter's Testimony

HONG KONG—(AP)—The Red China radio said a woman was sentenced and put to death in a mass demonstration at Chungking April 11 on the testimony of her daughter, who was described as "star witness."

Rising before a rally of 70,000 people, the radio said, Chen Kuo Tseng, identified as a student, denounced her mother as a "counter-revolutionary."

"Secret agents are not human," the daughter said, according to the radio account. "I don't recognize her as my mother. I ask the government to execute her so that she will be no longer a menace to the people."

A Red firing squad executed the mother, whose maiden name was given as Hsueh Chih-you, as a "woman special agent who had consistently sabotaged patriotic movements among students."

At least five others fell with her, the radio reported.

Chicago Girls At Sugar Bush

Party Is Held Near Camp We-Ha-Kee

By MARGARET SCULLY

A lively group of Chicago girls—pretty and vivacious—scrambled aboard a train in Evanston. Three Dominican sisters futilely admonished quiet, for the excited voices, the gay laughter were causing a turning of heads among other passengers.

"What's up?" one passenger asked.

"We're going on a sap party!" a chorus answered.

Sister David O'Leary, head of Camp We-Ha-Kee, a summer camp for girls on the shore of Green bay just south of Marinette, Wis., was keeping a promise she had made last summer, and 14 campers were on their way to the north woods to see maple sugaring.

In Peshtigo, Edward Dupuis, a genial farmer whose land borders the Peshtigo river and includes a fine stand of sugar maples (and also an old Indian burying ground) had everything ready. In the sap house a fire was burning under the vats, the clear liquid was already bubbling, and pails of freshly gathered sap stood ready for pouring.

"But aren't we going out to get the sap ourselves?" one of the girls inquired.

"O, sure," said Mr. Dupuis. "Only I thought you'd want a chance to see the whole process in a day's time, and after all, it takes between 25 and 50 gallons of sap to make a gallon of sirup. I had to have some a-boiling so you could see how it cooks down."

Some of the girls stoked the fire while others poured the pails of sap into the vats.

Mr. Dupuis does not make his sirup commercially.

"I make it just for the family and for my friends, and for the fun of it," he explained. "But last year I made 140 gallons."

Set Out for Grove

When the vats were bubbling again and the sap house was so full of steam that you couldn't see across it, Mr. Dupuis got his truck, and the girls, accompanied by Sister David, set out for the ride to the grove. Sister Agnesita, Sister Angelica, and Miss Bernadette Brennan, head councilor at We-Ha-Kee, volunteered to stay behind in the cookhouse to mix up pancakes.

The Peshtigo river was overflowing its banks, and a few of the trees were out of reach of anyone not wearing hip boots. In the grove there was a brisk tussle for the old fashioned yoke holding the out-sized pails in which the sap is collected tree by tree.

Agreeing to take turns, one group of girls started off to collect sap.

Pancake Feast

Back in the cook house the huge griddle was smoking, greased by an enormous slab of bacon. The ancient wood burning stove had so thoroughly taken the chill out of the atmosphere that every window was open.

Mrs. Dupuis had made a great pot of baked beans, and the Dupuis cows had supplied quantities of rich milk. Sister Agnesita and Sister Angelica had known their charges well enough to have a fine reserve supply of pancakes in the oven at the back of the stove, but even so, they were hard put to keep up with the demand. And the gallon jug of sirup on the table disappeared like pump water.

Southern Baptists Withdraw Invitation To Florida Governor

NEW ORLEANS — (AP)—Southern Baptists have withdrawn an invitation to Fuller Warren, Florida's Democratic governor, to address their convention June 20-24 at San Francisco.

The churchmen withdrew their invitation "in the light of recent developments in your state."

The First Baptist church of Key West, Fla., led the way by passing a resolution Sunday that the invitation be recalled. In urging this, the church at Key West criticized Warren for reinstating Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan of Dade county (Miami). The reinstatement was "contrary to Christian principles," the church declared.

Warren suspended Sullivan after a Dade county grand jury indicted him on charges that he failed to enforce gambling laws and permitted gamblers to bribe his deputies. Sullivan was reinstated last week.

India Checks To Find If Time Is Ripe For Korean Peace Talks

NEW DELHI, India—(P)—India has asked Communist China's reaction to General MacArthur's dismissal with a view to determine whether the time is ripe for a new attempt at arranging Korean peace talks, a foreign ministry source said.

India's ambassador to Peiping, K. M. Panikkar, has conveyed the official Indian inquiry on the response by Mao Tse-Tung's regime to President Truman's action, this source said.

He added that Panikkar was expected to "make his own soundings" before assessing the situation. He is expected to reply to the government here with an estimate in a few days.

Prime Minister Nehru, through Panikkar, in February attempted to reopen the subject of peace talks with the Communist leaders but was informed then the time was not ripe because extreme anti-American and anti-United Nations feelings were then general in Red China.

Sluggo Gets 10-15 Years For Killing Woman At Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—Ennis V. Gillum, 26, stood silent as Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanske pronounced the sentence on a jury's finding of manslaughter. He muttered: "No comment, no comment," to newsmen as he was led away.

Gillum's wife, Irene, burst into hysterical sobbing. Gillum had pleaded temporary insanity.

Gillum was convicted in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Julien, 47, who died of wounds he allegedly inflicted with a heavy hand-stapling machine after he broke into her home.

Police also accused Gillum, a tobacco salesman, of slugging two children and three women on the violent spree that followed a downtown convention of tobacco and candy salesmen. He claimed he had no memory of the events.

The telephone call that saved a dozen lives

Christine Bell

Mrs. Charlotte Birdsall runs a large rooming house in Detroit.

Early one morning the tingling of her telephone aroused her. Sleepily she answered it: the call was for her daughter, Doris.

Mrs. Birdsall woke Doris and went back to bed.

After the call, Doris slipped into her mother's room to talk. Then, although both still felt strangely drowsy, they decided it was time to get up. They went into the living room where, very much to their surprise, they found their two canaries dead in their cages.

Carbon monoxide is as odorless as it is deadly. Mrs. Birdsall and her daughter suddenly realized their big house was filled with coal gas.

Doris ran upstairs to open windows and call the roomers. But most of them were already unconscious. Then she, too, collapsed. Mrs. Birdsall managed to reach her telephone, dial "0" and gasp out her story to the operator.

That operator was Christine Bell. Quickly she notified the Fire Department, then stayed on the line until she knew the rescue squad was on its way. It reached the rooming house just in time.

For Mrs. Birdsall, her daughter and the ten others in the house, a telephone call—and an alert operator—had saved a dozen lives.

Nap Can Add To Party Pep

Girls who remain bright-eyed and gay until the wee house of important evenings are often the envy of their drowsy-lidded companions.

If you wish to remain sparkling until the festivities are over, it's a good idea to take more to the affair than a yen for fun. A fresh store of extra energy is a handy thing to have along as well.

A pre-party nap is one of the best means of restocking vitality. Not only is work-a-day fatigue lessened, but a brief period of sleep aids in blotting from your mind the worries and tensions that make such poor companions on gala occasions.

Try this leisurely get-ready plan before your next important social event. Begin with a hot bath as the first step in your program of relaxation. Follow this with a nap in a darkened room. Set your clock to awaken you after a half hour or an hour, as your time allows. A non-confining garment such as a negligee and light covers are both aids in unknitting tired muscles.

Even if your arrival at the party's a bit delayed by this routine, it's worth it to feel full of pep and ready for fun when you do get there.

Designers Stress Details for Spring

These French designs illustrate three important points of the Parisian look for spring. This look includes (left) a ruffled hem and ruffled muff from Jean Desses. Color is gray. Bill of Rochas, a young American designer in Paris, does an Alice in Wonderland dress (center) in white lace embroidered in black. The coat-dress (right) from Jacques Fath for formal afternoon wear is in gold-and-black.

To Play An Ox
Or Earn Love,
First Have Them

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Certain popular child guidance theories always remind me of a recipe in my English great-grandmother's cook book. It begins, "Take an ox and flay it..."

If young Mrs. G. had owned an ox, perhaps she could have flayed it. If she had felt "warmth" and "acceptance" for the small son who abused and mistreated her, maybe she could have given them right from the start.

As it was, she didn't have them to give.

Young Mrs. G. was the daughter of a well-intentioned, but over-bearing and critical mother. She was also an earnest student of training theories which warn darkly against parental control of children's impulses to do what they please.

By the time Ronnie was three, his mother had developed a secret fear that made her sleep and eat badly. She was afraid she did not love her child.

Mrs. G.'s mother was visiting one evening at Ronnie's supper-time. As usual, Mrs. G. did not tell Ronnie to come to his meal; she took it to him on a tray.

He was absorbed in his educational blocks. When his mother suggested he look at the pudding she had made for him, he said "Go away. I hate you. Go away." Remembering the books' advice on quiet reactions, Mrs. G. was saying, "It's quite all right for you to hate me, dear..." when Ronnie kicked her shin. Then he kicked the tray out of her hands.

Mrs. G.'s mother said, "Before I would let a child treat..."

She didn't finish. For the first time in her 27 years, her daughter interrupted her.

"Mother, my child is my business," Mrs. G. said. Then she walked over and kicked down Ronnie's block house.

The Adventure Of Being Herself Did her mother leave indignantly? Yes, but she came back the next week. Did she interfere with Mrs. G.'s training again? No, although she tried to once or twice. All Mrs. G.'s mother really resented was the work of having to remodel her old comfortable opinion of her daughter's dependence on her.

Did Mrs. G. injure Ronnie's emotional security? No, she began to give some to him. She did not know it all at once, of course. For she had stopped thinking about "warmth" and "security" as though they were spinach or vitamins given by prescription. She stopped thinking about giving Ronnie "emotional security" and became absorbed in the adventure of being herself.

Like the real selves of all of us, Mrs. G.'s real self was lovable. Ronnie discovered that in a very short time. One day, when she was helping him build a block house, he looked at her suddenly and said, "Go away." Both of them knew what she would say. She said to Ronnie, "Go away yourself."

To herself, Mrs. G. said, "This is warmth and acceptance." She was right, too.

In many Asiatic languages the words for rice and food are identical.

A WOMAN driver is a person who drives the same way a man does—only she gets blamed for it! One thing no driver gets blamed for is driving a new Studebaker. I notice when the men talk cars, they all have a good word for the Studebaker. That's because they realize it's out in front in design and efficiency and still competes in price with the lowest priced cars. Even a woman driver can understand the wonder of the high efficiency engine that requires no premium fuels! All women drivers, and men too, are welcome to try out a 1951 Studebaker at Petersen-Jacobson Auto Service!

Mary Lou Thivierge Is April Bride Of Rudolph A. Kukanic

Green Vigil lights and lighted tapers formed the altar decorations of All Saints Catholic church for the marriage on Saturday of Miss Mary Louise Thivierge and Rudolph A. Kukanic. Rev. Fr. Walter Roemer was celebrant of the 9 o'clock nuptial mass.

The music of the mass was sung by All Saints student choir.

Mary Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thivierge, Sr., 1222 Delta Avenue, and Rudolph is the son of Mrs. Matt Kukanic, 1316 Superior avenue.

Miss Helen Jean Thivierge, sister of the bride and James Shandony, close friend of the groom, were the bridal attendants.

Ushers were Stanley Kukanic, brother of the groom, and Ned Short, the bride's brother-in-law.

The petite bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a lovely gown of white nylon marquisette over white taffeta with lace panels coming to points in the front and back of the bodice and a lace peplum ending in a court train. A Queen Anne collar formed the neckline. Her fingertip veil of net was gathered to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Her attendant was gowned in a white brocaded organza over yellow taffeta dress fashioned with a jewel neckline, and cap sleeves. She carried an arm bouquet of bronze snar dragons and wore a wreath of bronze snar dragons and white pinocchio roses in her hair.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thivierge was attired in a navy blue gabardine suit with a natural colored straw hat and navy accessories. The groom's mother wore a cocoa linen dress with cocoa lace trim and matching brown accessories. Each had a corsage of red roses and white pinocchio roses.

A wedding breakfast for immediate members of both families was held at the Log cabin. In the afternoon a reception was held at the bride's parental home. The table was laid with a lace tablecloth and centered with the tiered wedding cake and colonial figurines. Miss Mary Lorraine Willis presided at the silver coffee service and Miss Katherine VanDonzel served the cake and Miss Margaret Schenk, the punch.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the newlyweds will reside at her parental home, 1222 Delta avenue. The bride is employed in the office of Hoyer & Bauer, Escanaba and the groom is a fireman on the Soo Line railroad.

Could Red Sox Be Off On Another Flop Year?

(By The Associated Press)

Is this going to be another bridesmaid year for Boston's perennial left-at-the-altar Red Sox? Vic Raschi's 5-0 hand-cuffing of the Sox sluggers for the New York Yankees yesterday may have been a sign of things to come. It smacks too much of "the same old Red Sox" of the past four years.

Watching the Sox being throttled with six little singles made it almost impossible to visualize them as the same pulverizing team that ran off 11 straight Grapefruit league victories.

Braves Also Blanked

The season's opener proved a total loss so far as Boston was concerned. Not only were the Red Sox horse-collared, but the city's Braves were goose-egged as Larry Jansen of the Giants shut them out 4-0, with five singles.

Philadelphia's defending champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Braves gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Philadelphia's defending champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Braves gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Outfielder Al Zarilla blasted St. Louis Brown pitching for a home run, double and single to lead the White Sox to a 17-3 romp before 5,660 at St. Louis.

Dickson Is Hero

Murry Dickson pitched and battled the Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Pittsburgh. The little righthander walloped his first major league home run and contributed a single in another scoring rally.

The Chicago Cubs made merry at the expense of Ken Raffensberger, whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3. Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder, chipped in with a homer, triple and single.

Cold weather held the inaugural crowds to a disappointing 171,678 fans at the eight parks. Last year the eight openers drew 252,700 fans.

The biggest crowd of the day—44,860 Yankee stadium fans—saw Jackie Jensen steal the show from Mickey Mantle, the publicized New York rookie flash. Jensen smashed a two-run homer and doubled in the sixth inning. Mantle singled in four times at bat.

First Homer of Year

Dick Sisler, Del Ennis and Mike Goliath led the Phils nine-hit attack at Brooklyn before 19,217 chilled fans. Sisler, whose three-run homer beat Brooklyn for the pennant last year, hit two singles and scored twice. Ennis batted in three runs with a homer and single. Goliath socked a four-bagger in the second inning to gain the honor of connecting with the first major league homer of the year. Carl Erskine, a surprise starter, was the loser.

Only 6,081 saw Jansen gain his first victory in four opening day attempts. The righthander outpitched Vern Bickford, Boston's no-hit hurler, to give the Giants their first opening win since 1946.

Dutch Hiller went all the way for the Cubs before 18,211 at Chicago.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind Con Marero in the first night opener in American league history.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Another high school coaching job open . . . resignation of personable George LeBrasseur at Bark River-Harris is the latest in a long line of coaching changes . . . George, wisely, is going back to Western Michigan for his master's degree while his GI education is still available . . . George found coaching rough in his first year when considered on a won-loss basis . . . but at Bark River, he found a situation that exists in a lot of modern rural consolidated schools . . . school enrollment is up because students are brought in by busses . . . and there's the rub . . . Because of bus schedules, practices after school are necessarily shorter than when students live near school . . . as a result, the greater enrollment frequently works to the detriment of athletic teams . . . be that as it may, George's teams were fighters and the fundamentals he taught this year will stand the boys in good stead next year.

Apparently coaching vacancies in the Upper Peninsula aren't going begging this year, though . . . understand about 35 coaches—and would-be coaches—have applied for the basketball coaching job vacated by the resignation of Menominee's Harold Titus . . . and there are plenty of takers for Dutch Cummings' job at Kingsford . . . both jobs are "toughies," though . . . at Menominee, much of a coach's success depends upon what the Maroons do against Marinette . . . and at Kingsford a coach who can beat Iron Mountain consistently and do well against Norway is pretty certain of a longtime job.

There may be some more unexpected coaching changes, too, even in Delta county . . . one or two coaches we know are quietly looking around for a place to move . . . and Uncle Sam may upset the apple cart by calling up some of the boys in a hurry if the war situation should flare up unexpectedly . . . these are uncertain days, restless days . . . no one can do any serious, long-range planning because of uncertainties that may lie ahead . . . perhaps some day the world situation may settle down and coaches and everyone in general can settle down and live more normal lives . . . but today there doesn't seem to be any such thing as "normal" conditions . . . at its best, coaching is an uncertain, unsettled occupation . . . with the world situation what it is, coaching is even more of a Mexican jumping bean.

Jensen Snubs Pitching; Changes Stengel's Mind

NEW YORK — (AP)—It is seldom that Casey Stengel finds himself out-talked, especially in the spring, but the Yankee manager must have been a happy man today that he let a brash youngster from out west stop him cold six weeks ago.

The object of the unusual debate—and the winner—was Jackie Jensen, batting hero of the Bombers' opening victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday at the stadium.

When Casey opened training at Phoenix he was determined that Jensen, former football and baseball great at the University of California, was going to be a pitcher if he expected to remain with the Yankees.

Jensen had been a standout pitcher in college, but he reported to the Yanks last year as an outfielder. He sat around all season, played but little and proved, at least to Stengel's satisfaction, that he couldn't hit big league pitching.

Stengel lost no time advising Jackie where his future lay when he reported this spring.

"You're going to be a pitcher," he told Jackie. "You can throw harder than any man on my staff except maybe Allie Reynolds. You got four good pitches, all any pitcher needs. Some of those pitchers make pretty good money, too, just like outfielders. You can't play outfield for the Yankees if you can't hit."

Jensen wasn't impressed. He still wanted outfield. He was even a little stubborn.

"I Want to Hit"

"You fellows signed me as an outfielder," he said, grimly. All those other clubs that wanted me seemed to think I could play out there. I still think I can hit if I get a chance to play regularly."

This distressed Stengel, and he mourned to the correspondents.

"Can you imagine a boy with an arm like that not wanting to pitch for the Yankees?" He asked them. "We need pitchers. We got outfielders."

When the Sox started Bill Wright, a southpaw, in the inaugural yesterday there was Jensen in left.

There Goes Ball Game

First time up, Jackie fanned, swinging at a bad ball. Next time he dumped the ball into the lower right field stands, driving in what proved to be the winning run.

On his third trip he launched a three-run rally that finally put the skids under the Sox with a sizzling double down the right field line.

It looks as though the boy who didn't want to pitch for the world champions is on his way to proving his point.

Scorecard Gone; Mack Just A Fan

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—The most famous scorecard in baseball has been retired with its owner.

It's like a hot dog without mustard, Scotch without soda, punch without Judy, Christmas without Santa Claus.

Of course, we mean none other than Connie Mack without his storied scorecard.

The 88-year-old Mack, wrapped in a heavy overcoat and thick muffler, sat in 40-degree chill last night watching his beloved Philadelphia Athletics lose their 1951 opener to the Washington Senators 6 to 1.

Borrows Scorecard

It was the first time in 51 years Connie himself was not managing the A's. The man whose name is synonymous with baseball huddled in a box three rows back of the team's dugout. On the field one of Connie's prize proteges, Jimmy Dykes, did the master-minding.

Gone for good is the scorecard that veered into play such baseball greats as Eddie Collins, Al Simmons, Ty Cobb, Bing Miller, Jimmy Foxx, Jack Barry and Frank (Home Run) Baker.

In truth, Connie had to borrow a card from a neighbor so that he would have one to wave for the camera shots.

Why has he decided not to use a scorecard? He simply grinned, shrugged, wagged his head. He's keeping his reasons to himself. But one can't help thinking that perhaps he was a little worried over so long a habit, that it would be so easy for him, in the game's excitement, to forget his new role and start waving men into action.

Connie kept up a running fire of comment. Other fans round about him got it straight from the boss of nine pennant winners and five world champion clubs why so-and-so hits well and the other fellow doesn't.

Mickey Grasso, Washington catcher came to bat in the second inning. "This boy is a good batter," Connie assured his circle. The words were scarcely spoken before Grasso smashed a three-run homer into the left field stands—enough to win the game. Connie grimaced as if to say "He's too good if you ask me," then settled back again, wreathed in good humor.

Baseball

DETROIT — (AP)—Whipped in their American league opener for the first time in five years, the Detroit Tigers nevertheless nursed a new ray of hope today.

The new hope is really an old figure in Briggs stadium. He's the 29-year-old left-handed Hal A. Newhouse, once the league's best last year just another average pitcher.

Hal allowed the Cleveland Indians eight hits in yesterday's opener, 2-1. But if it hadn't been for a ninth-inning error by Detroit shortstop Johnny Lipon the game might have ended differently.

Lemon Is "Sweet"

Hal's mound opponent, big Bob Lemon, allowed only two hits. Both were by Jerry Priddy, one a double and one a single. Lemon, who topped the American league with 23 wins and 11 losses last year, was in command all the way.

But so was Newhouse, except for a brief spell in the first inning when he allowed four successive singles by Bobby Avila, Luke Easter, Al Rosen, and Larry Doby. Easter's blow drove in Avila. From then on Hal gave up only four hits. The winning run was unearned. The villain was Lipon, who juggled Jim Hegan's easy grounder with two out in the ninth.

While Lipon was playing "now I have it, now I don't," speedy Larry Doby, who had doubled off the right field screen and moved to third on a sacrifice, scored easily.

Priddy Steals Home

The Tigers tied the score in the third after second baseman Jerry Priddy doubled.

Priddy moved to third on a fielder's choice. With Newhouse at bat Manager Red Rolfe called for a squeeze bunt.

Priddy took off down the third base line on the pitch, which sailed high and wide. Priddy scored easily and was credited with a stolen base.

After the game Newhouse, seldom behind the count, said he felt he had good stuff. Some clubhouse observers thought Newhouse, who once won more than 25 games each year in three successive seasons, would win 20 games if he kept up that way.

A Newhouse revival would mean a big psychological boost for Detroiters, who are struggling along with ace Art Houtteman in the army.

Leafs Victors In Overtime

MONTREAL — (AP)—A brilliant overtime goal by center Ted Kennedy last night gave the Toronto Maple Leafs a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens and shot the Leafs back into the commanding position in the Stanley cup hockey final.

Kennedy's goal dramatically broke up the third game of the best-of-seven series and put his team in the lead, 2-1.

The Canadiens once more take over the underdog position, and must win Thursday's game here to keep up with the hustling Leafs.

It was the third overtime game between the closely matched teams. Maurice (Rocket) Richard, ace goal-getter of the Canadiens, sent his team in front in the first period and Sid Smith tied it up for the Leafs in the second.

Toronto outshot Montreal, 30-24, and the penalties, which played a part in the first two goals, were evenly divided. The Canadiens were handed four minors by Referee Bill Chadwick and the Leafs three plus a 10-minute misconduct to Howie Meeker for too much backtalk.

Miami Pro Is Signed By Escanaba Golf Club

Coaches To Meet Over Weekend

The Upper Peninsula Coaches' association will hold their spring meeting at Houghton Friday evening and Saturday.

Headquarters will be at the Douglas hotel, where the Friday evening meeting will be held. It will include discussion of the past basketball season and recommendations to the state high school athletic association and the national federation of high schools.

At the Saturday session at the Sherman gym of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, officers will be elected at a business meeting. After luncheon at the Denton house, Coach Alan Boward of Tech will lead a discussion and demonstration of football techniques.

BILL MARK

Bill Mark, 35-year-old golf pro from Miami, Fla., has been named pro-manager of the Escanaba Golf club, President J. Lee Hendricks said today.

Mark, married and an army veteran of four years, will arrive here about April 25 to open the pro shop and prepare for the coming season. He succeeds Dick Knop, who has joined the staff of the Medinah club in Chicago.

The new pro comes here from the Woodhill Country club of Minneapolis, where he has been head pro the last three years. Previous to that, he had been pro at the Shaker Heights Country club, Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Assistant to Stars

He has been assistant to Willie MacFarlane, former United States open champ, and to Bobby Cruickshank and Leo Diegal, two other widely noted pros.

Mr. Mark has had considerable experience in managing a clubhouse and in club activities and he will be pro-manager of the club," said Hendricks.

"He comes to us highly recommended as a golf teacher and as a fine gentleman. We feel we were fortunate to land a man of Mark's calibre. He is a class A member of the Professional Golfers' association."

Tournament Player

Mark has played in every major tournament in the United States and Canada from time to time. Just recently, he played the winter golf circuit with most leading professionals, beginning late last year in California and ending this spring in Florida.

Hendricks said the club would be opened informally about May 1. Dates for the opening stag and other social events will be announced in a few days.

"We are looking forward to a season of plenty of activity at the club," said Hendricks. "We are lining up active committees that will see that there is plenty doing for everyone."

TIGER MOUND CORPS—Detroit's "Big Five" on the mound this season should be left to right, Virgil Trucks, Ted Gray, Dizzy Trout, Hal Newhouse, and Fred Hutchinson. Manager Rolfe hopes they will lead the Tigers to the '51 flag.

In Defeat, Hal Buys Tigers Hopes

DETROIT — (AP)—Whipped in their American league opener for the first time in five years, the Detroit Tigers nevertheless nursed a new ray of hope today.

The new hope is really an old figure in Briggs stadium. He's the 29-year-old left-handed Hal A. Newhouse, once the league's best last year just another average pitcher.

Hal allowed the Cleveland Indians eight hits in yesterday's opener, 2-1. But if it hadn't been for a ninth-inning error by Detroit shortstop Johnny Lipon the game might have ended differently.

Lemon Is "Sweet"

Hal's mound opponent, big Bob Lemon, allowed only two hits. Both were by Jerry Priddy, one a double and one a single. Lemon, who topped the American league with 23 wins and 11 losses last year, was in command all the way.

But so was Newhouse, except for a brief spell in the first inning when he allowed four successive singles by Bobby Avila, Luke Easter, Al Rosen, and Larry Doby. Easter's blow drove in Avila. From then on Hal gave up only four hits. The winning run was unearned. The villain was Lipon, who juggled Jim Hegan's easy grounder with two out in the ninth.

While Lipon was playing "now I have it, now I don't," speedy Larry Doby, who had doubled off the right field screen and moved to third on a sacrifice, scored easily.

Priddy Steals Home

The Tigers tied the score in the third after second baseman Jerry Priddy doubled.

Priddy moved to third on a fielder's choice. With Newhouse at bat Manager Red Rolfe called for a squeeze bunt.

Priddy took off down the third base line on the pitch, which sailed high and wide. Priddy scored easily and was credited with a stolen base.

After the game Newhouse, seldom behind the count, said he felt he had good stuff. Some clubhouse observers thought Newhouse, who once won more than 25 games each year in three successive seasons, would win 20 games if he kept up that way.

A Newhouse revival would mean a big psychological boost for Detroiters, who are struggling along with ace Art Houtteman in the army.

Tiger Sidelights

(By The Associated Press)

Bob Avila, the Indians' Mexican second baseman, and Larry Doby and Luke Easter, the Indians' two slugging Negroes, sparked the winners with two hits each.

All hits were singles except for Jerry Priddy's and Doby's doubles. Both were soaring blows inside the foul line in right field.

Last year's opening day crowd of 44,642 was slightly larger than yesterday's surprisingly big turnout.

For Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, whose club is a prominent dark horse in the pennant race, the victory meant a successful debut. He replaced Manager Lou Boudreau, now with the Boston Red Sox.

George Kell, second best hitter in the league, will remain out of the Detroit lineup for two weeks and maybe longer. A splint will be applied to his fractured finger today. Doctors said surgery may yet be necessary. The finger has not responded to treatment since it was injured March 26.

One of the Tigers' promising rookies, young Billy Hoelt, left the ball club last night to join the Toledo Mudhens of the American association. The 18-year-old pitcher, just a year out of high school, sparkled in spring training games with the Tigers. But he needed more seasoning and it's expected he'll see more action with Toledo than sitting on the bench in Detroit.

Outstanding Wolve Frosh Breaks Leg

ANN ARBOR — (AP)—Michigan's outstanding freshman football prospect broke his leg yesterday.

End Gene Knutson, termed by Coach Bennie Oosterbaan "unquestionably the outstanding freshman prospect," was injured during a scrimmage session.

Oosterbaan said Knutson, a giant from Beloit, Wis., probably would be back in shape for fall practice.

'Whirlwind' Artist Began At 60, Still Going Fast

MRS. SARAH MARSHALL AND MURAL: "Just another phase."

By NEA Service
NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—(NEA)—Mrs. Sarah Marshall is an unusual artist. Sometimes she finishes her painting before she remembers to put her smock on. She has what has been called a "whirlwind" style with a paint brush.

It's all the more remarkable because Mrs. Marshall is 77. She took up painting just after her 60th birthday.

Her painting speed was emphasized by the mural she just finished at South Baptist church. It took her less than seven hours to convert a blank space behind the baptistry into a colorful River Jordan scene.

First, she made a 4-by-8 inch sketch of the mural, then transferred the sketch to the plaster wall. She continued the painting up to the top section of the wall that is arched to meet the ceiling.

Mrs. Marshall, a native of England, isn't sure why she took up painting at all. Although she'd been a mill worker, she'd always loved anything that was hand work. She thinks her painting is "just another phase" of that hand work avocation.

The Jordan mural is not representative of Mrs. Marshall's work. She is more at home interpreting the wonders of nature on canvas.

Racketeers Collect To Use 'Influence' On Liquor Licenses

LANSING — (AP) — The state liquor control commission has asked aid in stamping out a new racket in liquor license applications.

Chairman George Burke, jr., said he had information that racketeers are charging up to $5,000 for alleged influence with commissioners or high commission officials in getting licenses.

The racketeer, Burke said, promises each of several applicants he will get the license for him, but asks no money immediately. The money is placed in escrow, and the racketeer collects from those successful in getting licenses.

"Of course," Burke said, "no one has any influence over the commission's policies. Some people are making a nice living, but at the expense of innocent applicants. We are determined to stamp out the practice."

Anyone approached with the promise of influencing the commission was asked to notify Burke.

Parts Shortage Idles 3,000 Kaiser Workers

DETROIT — (AP) — A parts shortage, attributed to cutbacks in steel and copper, will cause the layoff of more than 25 per cent of its hourly rated workers, Kaiser-Frazer Corp. said.

The company said the shortage was mainly in radiators and springs. The second shift of car production, it said, will be discontinued, idling about 3,000 workers.

Approximately 8,000 workers will continue to work on one shift of car production and on aircraft.
